Attorney, Activist Steve Holzer Honored With Joseph Staller Award

Stephen T. Holzer, Esq, an attorney with Lewitt, Hackman, Shapiro, Marshall & Harlan in Encino, has been named the 2011 winner of the Joseph Staller Award for community service.

The Joseph Staller Award is presented annually by the Woodland Hills Tarzana Chamber of commerce to an outstanding member of the chamber. The award is named in honor of Joseph Staller, who worked for the San Fernando Valley Southern California Gas Co., was past president of the Van Nuys Rotary and Woodland Hills Chamber of Commerce, and was the 1973 recipient of the Fernando Award. He died in the early 1990s.

Holzer has been a member of the Woodland Hills Tarzana Chamber of Commerce since 1992. He was Chairman of the Board of Directors in 2002. He has also been a member and chair of the Government Affairs Committee of the chamber.

Throughout his career he has also been extensively involved in the community. He was the 2010 Chair of United Chambers of Commerce of the San Fernando Valley and also President in 2009-2010 of the San Fernando Valley Bar Association's Valley Community Legal Foundation. He is also a regular columnist for Valley News Group with his weekly "Legal News You Can Use" column.

Holzer will be honored at the Chamber's annual installation gala on January 15 at the Hilton Woodland Hills. The gala is a "Mardi Gras" themed event with entertainment, dining and dancing. Black tie optional.

Also to be honored that evening are the Chamber's "Ambassador of the Year" Kathy Rappaport of Flash Frozen Photography
